

TAX INCREASE RECOMMENDED TO CONGRESS BY PRESIDENT

Reparations Moratorium

PLEADS FOR ECONOMY

Prosperity, He Says, Depends on Sound
Government

Washington, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Slight-ing a $4,442,000,000 deficit for the government in three years of operation, President Hoover today recommended higher taxes to Congress.

In his third annual budget message, he said:

"We can not maintain public confidence nor stability of the federal government without undertaking
some temporary tax increases."

For the 1933 fiscal year, beginning next July, he estimated $2,942, 754,614 will be needed to run the government. Appropriations for this year were $52,271,920 more than that.

The president concluded with an emphatic warning against either congressional, private or organizational activities towards an increase
"in the drain upon public finances."

Protection of the financial integrity of the Washington government, he called "a necessary factor in the rebuilding of a sound national prosperity."

The tremendous deficit figure he used was arrived at by adding the $902,000,000 unfavorable balance for the last year to a $2,123,000,000 one expected this year, and an estimated $1,417,000,000 deficit in 1933. He left it to Secretary Mellon to outline the administration tax plan.

Balancing the budget for the present year being out of the question,
Mr. Hoover wrote:

"We should endeavor by increase of taxes and rigid curtailment of expenditures to balance the budget for the next fiscal year except to the extent of the amount required for statutory debt retirements. We should assure its balance, including statutory debt retirements, for the fiscal year following."

"I recommend that Congress provide for an increase in taxation for a definite limited period and upon the general plan of taxation which existed under the revenue act of 1924 with such changes as may be appropriate in the light of altered conditions."

"It is proposed that this increase shall be definitely terminated in two years from next July. This plan, it is estimated, will realize $920,000,000 next year and thus meet the above conditions of balancing the budget for the fiscal year 1933 except for the statutory debt retirement. It would balance the budget including debt retirement in the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1933. It would provide about $390,000,000 for the current year, leaving us with the necessity of borrowing an amount which will represent a net increase in the public debt by about $1,320,000,000."

enacting the revenue act of 1924

TREASURER HELD FOR LOSS IN BANK

JEFFERSONVILLE COUNCIL IS CRITICIZED IN REPORT OF
STATE EXAMINER

Columbus, O., Dec. 9.—(AP)—William D. LaRue, treasurer of Jeffersonville, Fayette County, and his bondsman, the Fidelity and Casualty Company of Maryland, were today held jointly responsible for loss of $2,584 in village funds through closing of the Citizens Bank of Jeffersonville last August.

Responsibility was placed in a report to the Bureau of Accounting by State Examiner R. B. Beverly.

The report said the village had $5,931.29 on deposit in the bank, of which $4,000 in Liberty bonds had been put up as security.

The village council, however, on March 2 permitted the bank to substitute for the Liberty bonds
an equal amount in Federal Farm Loan bonds. Sale of those bonds when the bank closed, yielded only $3,346.39.

LaRue and his bondsman were held responsible for the difference between the amount on deposit and the amount realized by sale of the bonds. The village council was criticized, however, for permitting the substitution.

"Two Other Fellows" Blamed For Murders By Mail Order Romeo

JUDGE'S MERCY GIVES "LIFE" TO MAUDE LOWTHER

Woman Who Killed Wife of Illicit Lover in His Plot Found Guilty

Wooster, O., Dec. 9.—(AP)—Mrs.
Julia Maude Lowther, 24, confessed killer of Mrs. Clara Smith of Ashtabula, escaped death in the electric chair today when Common Pleas Judge George A. Starn returned a verdict of first degree murder, with mercy. The verdict requires a sentence of life imprisonment.

Judge Starn promptly sentenced Mrs. Lowther to life imprisonment in Marysville reformatory.

Before giving the verdict, Judge Starn spoke for 45 minutes in the courtroom. He reviewed Mrs. Lowther's past life, and pointed out the unfortunate environment of her early years. He declared the crime of killing Mrs. Smith had been planned by her husband, Tibby, rather than by Mrs. Lowther. Tib-by Smith was electrocuted Nov. 20 for his part in the crime.

Because of her past life, Judge Starn explained, Mrs. Lowther was susceptible to suggestions from Smith and to his advances. When she fired the shot which killed Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Lowther was merely carrying out the suggestion of a crime planned by Mrs. Smith's husband the judge said.

Judge Starn then pointed out the difference between Mrs. Lowther's degree of guilt, and Smith's.
He said Smith knew his wife, and therefore his part in the killing was a personal one. Mrs. Lowther did not know Mrs. Smith and her part in the slaying, therefore, was impersonal, the judge held.

In her previous trial at Ashtabula, Mrs. Lowther was convicted by a jury of first degree murder and was sentenced to die in the electric chair. She won the new trial by a ruling of the court of appeals.

Mrs. Lowther hung her head as the judge pronounced the verdict.

She was taken to the reformatory

POWERS GOES ON WITNESS STAND TO TELL OF HIS FATAL LOVE AFFAIRS

MYSTERY MEN NAMED Modern Bluebeard Says One of Them "Stole His Girl" in Hurt Tone

By ROBERT ST. JOHN.

Clarksburg, W. Va., Dec. 9.—(AP)—
In a chatty conversational tone Harry F. Powers today sought to escape the hangman's noose for one of the five "mass murders" charged to him by placing the blame on "two other fellows."

Still chewing gum, but with a grim expression that he was during the two days of his trial, the so-called "matrimonial" merchant took the stand in his own defense after the state had rested.

He recounted in detail his relationship with Mrs. Dorothy Pressler
Lemke, Northboro, Mass., divorcee, for whose killing he now is on trial.

The two mysterious strangers he named were Charles Rogers and Cecil Johnson. He admitted a long search had failed to disclose any trace of them.

Rogers, he said, introduced Mrs.
Lemke to him, had a key to the windowless garage with subterranean chambers where the state contends the crimes took place, and was a frequent visitor at the place.

Johnson, he testified with a hurt tone "stole" Mrs. Lemke from him.
He and his mail-order sweetheart were on an automobile trip and when they reached Uniontown, Pa., she vanished, he said. He told of finding her in the company of Johnson later that day and leaving them together. That was the last he ever saw of her, he claimed.

The end of the state's fight to send Powers to the gallows for what the prosecutor called his
"murder for profit" came unexpectedly after 25 witnesses had been heard.

Powers was still testifying when court adjourned at noon.

He said Rogers introduced Mrs.
Lemke to him in Clarksburg. He told of going to see her in July.

Q—How was your friendship progressing at that time?

A—There wasn't much feeling.
We were like—just acquaintances.

Q—How long did you stay?

A—Two or three days.

Q—When did you return?

A—Mrs. Lemke suggested we take our vacations together so we could get better acquainted.

The witness then told of visiting

ASSAULT WITH INTENT TO KILL CHARGES FILED

James A. Mendenhall, Hammer Wielder, Held for Vicious Attack

James A. Mendenhall, proprietor of a garage on the Chillicothe road just outside the corporation line, is now facing a charge of assault with intent to kill, growing out of a murderous attack upon John S. Stewart, boxer, and his brother, Mervin, of Ironton, Ohio, who were attacked by Mendenhall in the latter's garage, Tuesday afternoon, and barely escaped death from the vicious hammer blows rained upon their heads. Both of the Stewarts are being detained in the county jail as witnesses, but no charge has been filed against them, and so far as known, no charge will be placed against them. Arraigned before Justice W. W. DeWees, Wednesday forenoon, on a charge of assault with intent to kill, filed by John S. Stewart, Mendenhall entered a plea of not guilty and asked for a preliminary hearing, which was set for nine o'clock Thursday morning. The charge was prepared by Prosecutor Norman L. McLean after the Prosecutor and Sheriff Minton visited the Stewarts in the county jail. Mendenhall, who came to this city from Springfield a short time ago, said he had been arrested once before for being intoxicated. Mervin Stewart, who fled from the scene soon after the assault, and was supposed to have left town, later showed up at the Mayor's office, nursing two or three severe head wounds inflicted by the hammer. John Stewart, who it was at first feared, had sustained a fractured skull by reason of innumerable blows from the heavy hammer, is still in a very bad condition, and is suffering severely. No complications have developed so far. According to Chief Wolfe, he has a witness who stated that the two men, with Mendenhall, had been drinking together when the two Stewarts stopped in the garage to get warm while thumbing their way to Ironton from Dayton where, it seems, John Stewart had appeared in a boxing card the previous night. After drinking together, according to the witness, the witness, the Stewarts had dropped down in one corner and gone to sleep. Then, the witness is quoted as saying, Mendenhall picked up the hammer and started toward the sleeping men, saying that he was going to kill them. The next instant he was raining blows upon them with the hammer, and they scrambled to their feet and escaped as soon as possible. John Stewart obtained a broken hand when the hammer struck as he threw up his hand to ward off the blows upon his head.

LAW REGULATING COAL WEIGHTS

Deputy Sealer Warns That Duplicate Delivery Ticket Necessary

Deputy Sealer of Weights and Measures, Herman E. Price, Wednesday issued the following statement relative to weights of coal and the law requiring duplicate weight slips, properly signed: "Due to some complaints on the weights of coal, I wish to say that short weights will not be tolerated and I insist that all consumers see that the following law is obeyed. It is necessary in selling coal or any other commodity sold and weighed bulk and conveyed in a truck, wagon or any carrier where the net weight is determined from the gross and tare weights, must have a duplicate delivery ticket weigh bill accompany each delivery, on which shall be in ink or other indelible substance distinctly expressed in pounds the net weight or weights of the commodity comprising the delivery, and the gross and take the weights from which each net weight is delivered, with the name of purchaser, the name of the dealer from who purchased and the weights, and we ask that the users of coal to examine their weigh tickets to see that they are made out according to law. Any one violating this law is subject to a fine and imprisonment. It is by duty to see that this law is enforced, and I want everyone to have a square deal. H. E. Price, Dep. Sealer of Weights and Measures."

ucts except cigars; an increase of 1 per cent in the existing stamp tax upon sales or transfers of capital stock; extension of the present tax on admissions through the reduction of the present exemption of 10 cents; a tax on manufacturers' sales of automobiles, trucks, and accessories at 5, 3 and 2½ per cent, respectively. A stamp tax on conveyances of realty of 50c for each $500 of value in excess of $100; a tax of 5 per cent on manufacturers' sales of radio and phonograph equipment and accessories; a stamp tax of two cents on each check and draft; and a tax on telephones, telegraph, cable and radio messages of 5 cents for charges in the amount in excess of 50c. The secretary estimated the 1931-32 period, under present circumstances, would be a $4,400,000,000 deficit and the public debt lifted $5,250,000,000. He set up these three objectives for the legislation: Substantially to reduce this fiscal year's deficit. Provision of adequate revenue to meet current expenses next year, and to balance the budget for the 1934 fiscal period. No specific postal rate increase was proposed. Mr. Mellon only asked that it be sufficient to return $150,000,000 more annually, to offset the post office deficit. At the same time he seconded

President Hoover's warning against increased federal obligations, in these words: "Additional expenditures for objects in themselves most meritorious should be judged in the light of the further burden which they would place upon the economy of the nation and upon the public credit at a time of unusual difficulty. "The taxpayer is asked to assume a large additional burden. He is entitled to know that the government on its part is so conducting its business as not to demand of him anything more than is actually necessary. The government is not an entity apart from the life of the people and it has no money to spend except what it gets from the pockets of the people. The treasury can not of itself create funds. Whatever it spends must be obtained either through taxation or through the sale of government securities, and the securities in the end must be redeemed by taxes. There is a limit to the extent to which the government under our social and economic structure, may wisely divert funds from private employes to governmental use. When we take into consideration the mounting burden of state and local taxes, it is no exaggeration to say that we are approaching that limit."

As to incomes, the following scale would be in force for payments next March: Now one and a half per cent of net income up to $4,000, up to two per cent. Now paying three per cent on the second $4,000, up to four per cent. Paying five per cent on net income above $8,000, up to six per cent. A half per cent would be added to the 12 per cent corporation levy of now, and the $3,000 exemption provision eliminated. REPORT ON CITY BOOKS IS FILED

Failure to Keep Proper Records Cited

State Examiner R. B. Beverly, who some weeks ago made an audit of the books of the various offices in this city, covering the period of July 10, 1928 to August 24, 1931, found that in that period the total amount of fines and costs not collected by the three mayors who held office during that time, totaled $3,588.20.

Of this amount fines and costs assessed by Mayor P. H. Curtin, and not collected, amounted to $1956.40. Also $832.49 under Mayor Patton's administration and $175.40 under Mayor Hyer's administration.

The examiner, who criticized apparently laxity in some of the offices, stated that the "present mayor has been especially negligent in collecting fines and costs," and that 123 cases had not been docketed by Mayor Curtin, and that in 79 cases no affidavits had been filed.

As usual in such reports, findings chiefly on technicalities were made, with some fines going to the county that should have gone to the city, and some due the county from the city.

Generally the other offices were found in very good condition, although it is noted that Solicitor A. N. Browning had devoted a great deal of time to working out the best plan to handle the bonded indebtedness of the city as the sinking fund trustees had been rather lax in handling these matters.

Various recommendations were made in connection with some of the offices, for better observance of the regulations of such offices.

COLLEGE PROFESSOR SCORED BY WITNESS

trouble, was there?"

J. F. Holloway, another clammer, said he was attracted by "a holering" in the water where two persons were splashing around. He said he saw no other bathers.

"If the screaming was by a man he could scream like a woman," Holloway said. He said he heard no call for help in a man's voice.

Under cross examination he said the screams were distress calls for help. Asked if he didn't testify in preliminary hearing for Kane that the calls were the sort of screams heard every day on the beach Hollywood said:

"If you say so, I did. The home of Professor Kane while at Chapel Hill, N. C., was described today as a "mad house" by Mrs. W. H. Graham, wife of Mrs. Kane's brother, who testified for the state in the professor's trial on charges of drowning his wife.

She said Kane tortured his wife by blasphemy and treated her brutally and boasted of his diabolical in God an delations with other women.

Judge C. Vernon Spratley ordered part of Mrs. Graham's testimony stricken from the records.

Mrs. Graham testified her sister-in-law could not swim a stroke and would not try to learn.

"She would not wet her feet if she was with her husband," Mrs. Graham said. She said Mrs. Kane would wade with others.

She described Kane as a powerful man and a bully in bragging who maintained a superior air.

STUDENT STRIKE IS ALL FOR NAUGHT

Laramie, Wyo., Dec. 9.—(AP)—An end to a strike of University of Wyoming students is in prospect. Laramie business men have taken a hand in the controversy arising over Dr. A. G. Crane's alleged remarks about "petting and drinking" following the annual engineers' ball Friday night.

Nine hundred of the 1,300 students struck yesterday upon the refusal of Dr. Crane, the president, to apologize for the remarks issued after he had peered into parked cars in the vicinity of the dance. Dr. Crane ordered expulsion of the striking body.

Business men of the college city called a conference and early to accept the president's offers permitting the students to return to classes, without punishment, and without loss of scholastic credit.

The president, in refusing to retract statements which the students said cast reflections upon the character of the co-eds and male escorts, declared he was accountable only to the university board of trustees. The board meets next week.

HAYS WILL CASE GOES TO JURY

The Hays will case went to the jury at 11:10 Wednesday forenoon, and at 3:10 the jury was still considering the case. The style of the case is A. L. Hays and others against James Elmer Hays and others.

"We shook hands, he said. "He asked what I was doing in Uniontown. I said, 'private business'. I asked him what he was doing there and he said 'private business, too'."

Powers identified the two checks on Worcester banks introduced yesterday bearing the endorsements of A. R. Weaver and Mrs. Lemke, he said the one he cashed was for $1,533.01.

Q—Why did you endorse them with the name of Weaver?

A—It was Johnson's suggestion, I didn't want to be responsible.

Q—Did Johnson advance the money on the $2,754 check?

A—Yes.

Q—Did you ever see Mrs. Lemke after that time?

A—No, I have not seen her since.

Q—What date was it you advanced the money and saw Mrs. Lemke?

A—July 30.

Powers said he then went to Hagerstown, Md., to see a man but parted to do this. He then went to Uniontown, Pa., where he attempted to cash the check but failed because the bank was closed. He cashed it the next day.

A letter from Uniontown in an envelope postmarked 1 p. m. August 3 and signed "Dorothy" was identified by Powers as being in Mrs. Lemke's handwriting. This date is three days after police contend Mrs. Lemke was slain at Powers' garage near here.

Powers said he received it August 7. It read: "Dear Connie, I do not blame you for being mad at me after I deceived you."

"Please do not be angry at me, I meant no harm," she wrote.

"Please hold the trunks for a while until I tell you where to send them. Always your friend, Dorothy."

Powers told of paying the express charges on the trunks and taking one of them home with him.

Q—What happened to the trunks after you put them in the garage?"

A—I went to Chicago on August 12, and returned on August 19. When I got back at the garage I found the contents of trunks on the floor. I had to draw my conclusions as to who did it. So I took the things home.

Q—What was the light condition of the Quiet Dell garage.

A—There were no lighting facilities, except a ventilator in each of the four down stairs rooms.

Q—Did you ever discover any stains in there.

A—No, I never looked for anything like that.

'TWO OTHER FELLOWS' BLAMED FOR MURDERS BY MAIL ORDER ROMEO

Mrs. Lemke at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fleming, Worcester, Mass., the divorcee's sister and brother-in-law.

He said he saw Mrs. Lemke often and finally she expressed a desire to go to Paris, Ill. He said they started out from Worcester by automobile after sending Mrs. Lemke's trunks to West Virginia.

Q—Where did you spend the night of July 29.

A—in a hotel close to Harrisburg.

Q—How was your friendship developing.

A—"It wasn't developing—well, there was no misunderstanding until that night."

Q—Then what happened.

A—"We had separate rooms. It was early when we got in. We went to our rooms. Then I decided to play a joke on Mrs. Lemke so I tiptoed into her room. She had her back to the door."

Q—Then what happened.

A—"She was writing a letter. I looked over her shoulder and saw a picture on the table of a man I know—Cecil Johnson."

The witness said he also saw a letter in an envelope and demanded he be allowed to read it. She objected, he said, but he read it anyway.

"It was signed Cecil," he said. "The same man in the picture. He told her to meet him in Uniontown, Pa., and said he was glad that at last she had made up her mind to meet him, that he would be at the appointed place and it ended with words of love."

Then he told of leaving Harrisburg the next day and driving on to Uniontown. He left Mrs. Lemke in the car, he said, and looked for a place to eat.

"When I returned Mr. Lemke was gone. I hunted all over town for her. Finally I saw her in a restaurant with a man. Meantime I had discovered a note in my car. It was to me and it started out, 'Connie Dear,' it was in Mrs. Lemke's handwriting. I knew because I had corresponded with her since the first of the year. It was signed 'Dorothy'."

It read:

"Connie Dear, I think it best after what happened this afternoon to part now. Please think well of me, Dorothy. P. S. I will write later, and tell you where to send my things."

Powers said he went into the restaurant and discovered the man with Mrs. Lemke was "Cecil Johnson."

"We shook hands, he said. "He asked what I was doing in Uniontown. I said, 'private business'. I asked him what he was doing there and he said 'private business, too'."

MARKETS and FINANCIAL NEWS

DAY'S ACTIVITIES IN WALL STREET

By CLAUDE A. JAGGER

New York, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Stocks again declined today under moderate selling which developed after announcement that New York Central had deferred action on common dividends and on publication of the joint recommendations of President Hoover and Secretary Mellon for increasing taxes.

The railroad group bore the main brunt of selling which at noon had reached a volume of 1,000,000 shares. All railroad shares went to new lows. Losses of 2 to 4 points were registered by Union Pacific, Atchison, New York Central, Lehigh Valley, Delaware & Hudson, and Baltimore & Ohio.

Selling spread to the industrials and utilities with special activity in the tobaccos, telephone and chemical issues. United States Steel went to a new low for the present market, declining over 2 points to less than 49. Losses of 2 to more than 4 occurred in American Tobacco B, American Telephone, American Can, Western Union, Eastman Kodak, and Consolidated Gas, among others.

While the revenue proposals advanced jointly by President Hoover and Secretary Mellon had been foreshadowed in many important essentials over the past two weeks actual publication of the recommended program caused further selling. Investors had been prepared for a stiffening of the income tax rate. Reduction of personal exemption to $1,000 and $2,500 had been forecast; likewise the sharp increase in surtax rates which are graduated upward from 1 per cent on incomes of $10,000 to 40 per cent on incomes of more than $500,000. But the scope of special levies against particularly industries apparently caught many holders of stocks by surprise.

These include larger imposts on tobacco and transfers of capital stock. In addition they suggest a tax on automobile sales, radios, and a charge on telephone, telegraph, cable and radio messages. These latter recommendations led to fairly heavy selling of tobacco stocks and also caused further liquidation of telephone shares.

Decision of the directors of New York Central against declaring a dividend at this time called attention to the flurry of recent railroad dividend omissions.

Trade reports were not inspiring, although no improvement at this time of year had been anticipated. Continued hesitancy of automobile manufacturers to place new orders for steel led to a further decline in steel production, now at 26 1/2 per cent of capacity for the entire industry.

SCOTCH WHISKY PAGE

ANNUALLY Mrs. Earl Fowell entertains a lovely Christmas dinner party for the members of her class of the First Presbyterian Sunday School and for the 1931 party, twenty-two class members assembled at her home, Tuesday evening. Each year's affair is carried out beautifully in its appointments and delightfully in its pleasures and is anticipated with more than ordinary interest.

Tuesday evening at half past six o'clock, the guests were seated at artistic tables, one long table for ten seating the officers and older members of the class, and the others finding their places at small tables. The big table was centered with a colorful Jerusalem chery and lighted by red tapers tied with bows of naline. A red candle rose from miniature Jerusalem chery plants on the small tables and the covers were marked with charming little hand-painted sea shells, which served as place cards, nut baskets and favors. The dinner was served in three especially delicious courses.

Following the gaily prolonged dinner hour, Mrs. Fowell, a delightful hostess, provided several amusing contests and awarded prizes to Mrs. Mildred H. Rogers, Mrs. Dorothy S. Dellinger, Miss Mary Louise Mark and Miss Ramona Short.

A business session included a discussion of plans for the new year and the election of officers. Miss Mary Katherine Snider was chosen president, Miss Velma Hutchison, vice president, Miss Susie Tracey, secretary, Miss Mary Sauer, assistant, Mrs. Mildred Rogers, treasurer, and Miss Clara Davis, assistant.

Following the election, Mrs. Fowell, in a happy little talk, presented each of the retiring officers with a little token of appreciation of their faithful work throughout the year.

Seventeen members of the local unit of the American Legion Auxiliary motored to Chillicothe, Tuesday afternoon, and were guests at the Veterans' Hospital for cards and refreshments. Occasionally a representative group of women spend an afternoon at the hospital for the entertainment of the convalescing veterans, who anticipate diversions with enthusiasm.

There were several tables of card players enjoying the afternoon and spirited games of bridge, five hundred and five hundred rum. The local women also provided refreshments for the afternoon and were assisted in the arrangements by Miss Dill, the Red Cross resident nurse at the hospital.

Motoring down from here were Mrs. Sam Parrett, Mrs. Albert Flowers, Mrs. Chester Dunn, Mrs. Maryon Mark, Mrs. Edward L. Williams, Mrs. Charles Bryant, Mrs. Homer Raley, Mrs. Chalmers S. Kelley, Mrs. Edward L. Dice, Mrs. Leo Bogness, Mrs. Lossen Rhoads, Mrs. Harold Craig, Mrs. James Dunn, Mrs. Rudolph Wolf, Mrs. Walter Hutton, Mrs. Carl Smith and Mrs. Warner L. Southard.

The Philathea Class of the Church of Christ met Tuesday evening at the home of Velma Jones, with Florence Thornhill and Ruth Keaton assisting in the delightful hospitalities. Mary Lois Farrell, president, conducted the business session which included plans for a food sale, Christmas and New Year's parties.

The hostesses provided three contests and awarded favors to Mary Belle Williams, Patricia Jenkins and Fannie Tharp. This social hour also included music and the serving of delicious refreshments, carried out in Christmas colors.

Dr. and Mrs. Clayton V. Lanum entertained a beautiful dinner, artistic in every appointment, Tuesday evening. The table was centered with a lovely green water garden filled with roses, stovias and button chrysanthemums, and green sticks matching the water garden.

An elaborate course dinner of most delicious viands was followed by a delightful evening of visiting and hearts, the cordiality of the entertainers promoting the pleasure of the guests in every way. Covers were laid with Dr. and Mrs. Lanum for Dr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Harper, Dr. and Mrs. E. Boggs, Mr. and Mrs. George S. Renick, Mrs. Wertz Shoop and Mrs. Eliza Waddell.

Mrs. Walter Parrett (Mary Engle) was hostess to the Polyanna Class of Grace M. E. Sunday School for its December meeting and included several guests with the class members. Mrs. Irvin Van Winkle, president, conducted the business meeting, in which it was decided to fill a Christmas basket for a needy family.

Mrs. Jess Feagans, teacher of the class had a number of bible questions answered with interest by the members. Mrs. Parrett provided two amusing contests and awarded favors to Mrs. Jack Irvin and Mrs. Nevin Ricketts.

For the serving of delicious refreshments, the guests were seated at five small tables, prettily appointed. Christmas suggestions were carried out in detail in the appointments and in the collation. The additional guests were Mrs. Louis Parrett, Miss Juanita Hays, Miss Mary Belle Parrett, Mrs. Hugh Sollars and Mrs. Lillie McCoy.

The Country Club bridge tea, to be entertained Friday afternoon at two o'clock, will be a Christmas party, for which the hostesses are planning elaborately.

Mrs. J. J. Kelley is chairman the additional hostesses Mrs. Glenn B. Rogers, Mrs. David L. Sutherland, Mrs. Roy O. Simons, Mrs. L. C. Coffman, Mrs. Gilbert Adams.

This will be the last afternoon party before the holidays. The hostesses are hoping that every member will be out and that this Christmas party, the first that the club has sponsored will be a big affair as well as a beautiful one.

The men's night, advanced to Thursday evening, also promises a big get-together, with Mr. Walter Jones host for the evening.

The Ladies' Aid Society of McNair Presbyterian church was entertained Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Harry Backenstoe. There was an unusually large attendance and great deal of interest attending the meeting.

Mrs. Frank Thompson, president, presided and was assisted in the opening devotionals by Mrs. M. O. Ireland. The year's business was finished up and the officers for the new year elected. Mrs. Thompson was reelected president. Mrs. Charles Bennett, first vice, Mrs. T. E. Denney, second vice, Mrs. John Combs, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. Harry Backenstoe, assistant.

A delightful little Christmas program was presented and included a vocal solo, "Away in the Manger," by Edwin Thompson and two vocal duets, "Silent Night" and "Oh Little Town of Bethlehem," by Sarah Jane Foster and Annabel Speakman. Priscilla Wilson played the accompaniment.

Mrs. Backenstoe provided a most enjoyable social hour at the close of the meeting and served dainty refreshments.

The Browning Club assembled in the Federated Club room, Tuesday evening, for a very interesting program presented by Social and Industrial Department. Mrs. Estella K. Blackmer, president, presided over the opening business session before turning the meeting over to Mrs. Charlotte Tuttle, chairman of the program.

Miss May Duffee's paper on "Alaska—Our Ice Box" showed wide reading and research on the subject.

Mrs. Jeannette Haver presented an interesting paper on "Dr. Grenfell's Labrador."

The subject, "The Anti-Trap League," handled by Mrs. Ethel Hennessey, elicited much comment among the members and was followed by a resolution against the cruelty of steel traps in the capture of fur-bearing animals. The resolution was presented to the club for its signature and will be discussed at a future meeting.

Miss Glendine Naylor and Hugh Backenstoe Jr., have been invited by the teachers and former classmates of Miss Naylor to present a dance and musical program at the Highland High School auditorium Thursday night, December tenth, this being the date of the annual Philo-Athenian play.

They will be dinner guests of Supt. and Mrs. J. M. Garst, who have been close friends of Miss Naylor since she entered the first grade at that place.

Mrs. Fred D. Woodard extended delightful hospitality to the Tuesday Kensington Club and included several guests with the club members, adding to the pleasure of the afternoon. The guests included Mrs. H. C. Deems, of Columbus, Mrs. R. Owen Harrison, Mrs. A. D. Woodmansee, Mrs. S. A. Dewey and Mrs. Daniel H. Davies.

A delightful afternoon was whittled away in visiting over the needlework and at its close the hostess served a very delicious collation. Assisting Mrs. Woodard in the serving were Mrs. Stewart B. Smith and Mrs. G. C. Kidner.

The meeting of the Loyal Daughters of the Church of Christ was held, Tuesday evening, in the parlors of the church. The evening's hostesses were Mrs. M. K. Evans, Mrs. Birtus Thornton, Mrs. W. C. Patch and Mrs. W. B. Hyer. Mrs. Evans had charge of the devotional service, including a Christmas story from the bible presented by four children.

Recitations were given by Hilda Lee Evans, Dixie Lee Snyder and Charles Callender. Janice Thompson and Davis Thompson sang solos. Mrs. Ruch Chaney, president, concluded the enjoyable little Christmas program with Thackeray's "The End of the Play."

LENZ SYSTEM LEAD GROWS AS CULBERTSONS ARE BEATEN IN SECOND BRIDGE MATCH

By TOM O'NEIL

New York, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Sidney S. Lenz, who is universally acknowledged to have no superior as a player of contract bridge, has said that all bidding systems are fundamentally alike and that victory is 75 per cent play and 25 per cent system.

He and his partner, Oswald Jacoby, believe the statement has been proved by the first ten rubbers of their 150-rubber challenge match with Mr. and Mrs. Ely Culbertson.

When the second session of the match adjourned early today, to resume tomorrow night, Lenz and Jacoby were 2,075 points in the lead. A gain of 360 points over the plus acquired in the first session. Of ten rubbers played in the series Lenz and Jacoby have won seven, the Culbertsons three.

Culbertson characterized his strategy so far as mainly defensive, a retreat. He believes his opponents have had the better cards and the tide will turn.

Lenz in the second session made the only slam of the series so far, a little one, duly contracted. The bidding would probably have been the same under either system.

To neutralize an instance of comparative play was the fact that once Jacoby made four no trump on a bid of three when he could have been set. He had only the jack and eight of hearts and Lenz only the seven spot. The Culbertsons could have taken the first five tricks of the hand in hearts, but failed to make the proper deductions as to card holders and let Jacoby get in with the jack.

Less discussion of relative value of system was heard among the kibitzers but every argument about the rival methods of bidding had an answer. For example, the 26th hand of the series, which follows:

Lenz North
S—A, Q, 10, 2
H—J, 5
D—A, 9, 5
C—Q, J, 8, 5, 5
Culbertson West
S—K, J, 8, 7, 6, 4
H—9, 8
D—7
C—K, 10, 6, 2
Mrs. Culbertson East (dealer)
S—5, 3
H—Q, 10, 7, 6, 4
D—Q, 6, 3, 2
C—4, 3
Jacoby South
S—9
H—A, K, 3, 2
D—K, J, 10, 8, 4
C—A, 9, 7

North and South not vulnerable; East and West vulnerable. The bidding:
East pass; South one diamond; West one spade; North two no trump; East pass South three hearts; West pass; North three no trump, the contract.

Lenz took six tricks. Culbertson followers argued Jacoby failed to open with the two intermediary bid of the "official" system and that Lenz was misled as to his partner's strength. Lenz and Jacoby retorted Jacoby's holdings were a bit below the requirements of the "official" system. Culbertson followers argued that under the Culbertson system a little slam contract would have been bid as follows: South one diamond; North three no trump; South five hearts; North six no trump.

It took some lead-placing the typical Lenz deduction to make six tricks. He put Culbertson in toward the end of the hand so that West had to lead away from the king, Jack and ace of spades. The ace, queen and ten in Lenz's hand all took tricks.

The 53rd hand of the series gave Mrs. Culbertson a two-hand rubber of which she played both hands. She was forced to bid by two takeout doubles, or informatory doubles made by her husband.

The hand:
Lenz North
S—Q, J, 9, 8, 6, 5, 3
H—9, 7, 4
D—10
C—7, 6
Mrs. Culbertson East (dealer)
S—10, 7, 4, 2
H—J
D—A, 8, 3
C—Q, 10, 9, 4, 3
Jacoby South
S—A, K
H—Q, 6, 2
D—J, 9, 7, 4, 2
C—K, 8, 2

East and West vulnerable; North and South not vulnerable.

The bidding:
East pass; South one no trump; West double; North two spades; East pass; South pass; West double; North pass; East three clubs; South pass; West three hearts; North pass; East four clubs; South pass; West five clubs the contract.

Culbertson, holding "four plus" honor tricks, as he terms them, and a blank in the suit bid by the opponents was well justified in compelling his partner to bid her best suit and later in going to a game bid herself. Jacoby led the ace of spades.

age for Christmas. The cloudy-sunshine day contest closed with the sunny day team winning. The losers will entertain the winners at some future date.

The election of officers resulted in the re-election of Mrs. Chaney as president, Mrs. Clifford Irvin, vice president, Mrs. W. B. Hyer, secretary, Mrs. Sherman Hidy, recording secretary, and Mrs. George Hall, treasurer.

Following was the social hour and refreshments, for which the women were seated at twelve small tables, prettily appointed in Christmas decorations. The matching of cards to ascertain table partners provided entertainment and in addition there was a grab bag from which everyone received a gift. The refreshments were especially tempting and rounded out a most enjoyable evening.

BRIDGE PARTIES AT STUTSON'S GROWING

Table of Valuations for Appraising Hands Is Given by Expert

Bridge interest this week finds its mecca in The Frank L. Stutson Co. store, where Rufus Steele, bridge expert, feature writer and entertainer, is lecturing each afternoon and evening and instructing in Culbertson and the Boland convention in bridge. Interest grows in leaps and bounds and each session finds the rear of store full of bridge players, who are realizing how much there is to be learned if they expect to obtain the full value of the hands.

Tuesday afternoon brought out many additional players, who found the instructions most helpful and greatly enjoyed the hours of play and the tea delicacies served by The Frank L. Stutson Co. at their close. There were a number of tables of both men and women out for the first evening under Mr. Steele's instructions.

Wednesday night is Men's night and, while there will be a brief talk and bridge instruction, Mr. Steele will also entertain the guests with card tricks and mystical entertainment, in which he is an adept. There will be sessions for both men and women Thursday and Friday nights.

Continuing in the discussion of salient points in bridge development and successful play Mr. Steele said:

To play good Contract Bridge you must learn the fundamental formula which comprise a bidding system and, this achieved, use your head. Why? Because a pack of cards can be distributed into 53,447,738,488,283,237,440,000 combinations and even the experts have been unable to cover perfectly every solution that arises. Therein lies the fascination of the game.

CARD VALUATION

This is the hardest lesson of all because the valuation tables must be permanently memorized. This lesson is the basis of all lessons. More poor bridge players are poor players because they have never learned the simple principles of the quick trick tables.

An opening bid is admittedly an overbid in that it announces that it will take more tricks than are possible with the cards held by the bidder. This overbid is based on the assumption that the partner will be able to under certain assistance and supply the deficiency of tricks necessary to fulfill the declaration successfully. That the original bid may be reasonably sound it must be based on a definite minimum of tricks in the bidders hand.

The minimum of an opening bid of one is placed at four probable tricks, a theoretical advantage of one probable trick over the other three players should the thirteen tricks be divided exactly 4-3-3-3. Assuming such distribution, the partner of the opening bidder will supply the three tricks necessary to bring the partnership total to the seven tricks contracted for by the opening bid of one four plus three, equals seven, or one "odd" trick.

Any opening bid conveys the following specific information to the partner:

"Should you support this bid, the hand will take at least the remaining number of tricks indicated by the bid; should you make a take-out suit or no-trump, the bid guarantees certain minimum high-card tricks which will enable you to enter the hand."

Therefore your first consideration when you are contemplating an opening bid is:

(A) How many high-card tricks does your hand contain?
(B) How many tricks will your hand win if your declaration stands?

So this is the reason for your knowing your quick trick tables.

LIVING AND LOVING

BY VIRGINIA LEE

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: I am 19 and have been keeping company for six months with a fellow 21. I am deeply in love with him and refuse all other dates. He thinks I should go out with other fellows yet he never takes out any other girls."

"He also says that he likes me a lot, but doesn't know whether he is in love, although I think he acts it. He cannot settle down for four or five years and thinks by that time I will tire of him, but I know I won't."

"Do you think I should wait that long or go with other fellows in the meantime? Don't you think he is old enough and has gone with me long enough to know whether he is in love with me? Do you think I should let him know I love him so much?"

"UNDECIDED LOVER."

I think the young man is wise, dear, and is trying to save you heartache in the future. He knows there is no chance of marriage for a number of years and feels it is not fair to tie you up for that length of time, especially as you both may change in the meantime. Nineteen and 21 are not such very "settled" ages, you know. And he may be a little uncertain of his love for you.

If your love does last until he is able to marry and settle down, well and good. But if you are not bound by an engagement and find you are changing, neither will feel the obligation or the pain of the break so severely.

Don't tell the boy friend that you love him. He probably can see that for himself, or if he cannot,

WEDNESDAY NIGHT. I said, in an effort to snap back into the playfulness we had pursued before.

"Yes—the guest should!" "Page Emily Post," I said. "Listen," Nate said, still sitting on the stool at my feet. "You've got to listen to me—"

He caught my hand and pulled over to his knee and held it. "Don't I always listen—to you?" I countered.

"No—you don't. Do you know think you are the loveliest little girl I know. And that if—any thing happened to you I should never forgive myself. . . and I feel as—well, as badly about something you with a terrible rip in your stocking as I would my own sister. I wasn't so keen about the sister attitude."

"I know you didn't get that tonight—or last night. . . and know if you had a better pair wear you'd wear them—you're the proud . . ."

I quickly pulled my skirt down to hide it and tucked my foot in its not-too-shiny silver slipper under my chair.

"Oh," Nate exclaimed, looking at me quickly as if he were a bit offended. "You don't have to jump like that. I wasn't going to—to to rip it any more!"

We both laughed then. "Should the guest attract attention to—to the hostess's hosiery?"

then he had better be kept guessing. Enjoy your friendship with him, but don't try to make him feel he is not perfectly free to go with others if he chooses, and you go with other fellows.

If the tie is strong enough it will hold, and you need not fear for the future.

THE SOCIAL ELITE

Girl Reporter Draws Word Picture of Leaders of "Four Hundred" Set

By ETHELDA BEDFORD

New York.—Many women would give the best half of their lives to be able to recall the distinction, as can the gracious Mrs. Robert Gillespie Mead, of being on that celebrated list of the "400" as tabulated by the late Mrs. Astor.

However, for years apparently, Mrs. Mead has found traveling and philanthropic work far more interesting than social doings.

Before her marriage this dis-

Mrs. Robert Gillespie Mead

tinguished lady was Miss Elsie M. Cleveland. And where the cream of the "400" gathered you were sure to find her in the midst of the most intriguing going on.

Today there is no more respected member in the social ranks, or one who has endeared herself to humanity with greater service.

During the World war Mrs. Mead did splendid work. She has interested herself in the progress of the Cancer Association, too, and her efforts are well known.

Girl Scout Leader

She is the chairman of the Girl Scout Federation of Greater New York—and recently she timed her return from an extended trip in the old world so she would be able to take part in the celebration of the National Girl Scout Week.

When in Europe she spends much time acquainting herself with the work and general organization of the Guide Leaders' Training Centers of the Girl Scout Federation in England, France and Holland.

Perhaps had it not been for Mrs. Mead the famous prison, "Sing Sing," never would have gained mention in that blue-blooded address book, the Social Register.

It is said that shortly after her marriage to Mr. Mead who was interested in prison work, Mr. Mead's address appeared in the Blue Book as "Sing Sing, N. Y." Of late years she has retained a residence in West 11th street, bordering Greenwich Village.

Mrs. Mead is a stylish looking woman, of medium build.

She usually wears conservative colors and for the most part straight-lined modes.

Her voice has an unusually soft quality, and her accent, which has a hint of European influence, is attractive.

Has Real Ability

Mrs. Mead has many friends, in many stations. She likes people and is interested in them, as individuals and as a whole.

She has organization ability, and what is rarer, an ability to create in her associates the desire to work with and for her.

Unlike many of the great ladies, Mrs. Mead never encourages attention. She has never made the slightest effort to make known her philanthropic work. Perhaps not half will ever be told of the splendid work she has done for many causes she believes worthy of her time and money.

Modesty is a true quality of a great lady.

NO INFRACTIONS OF GAMBLING EDICT

So far the police have failed to find any infractions of the edict issued by Chief Wolfe, Saturday night, that all "rum" playing, and other forms of gambling must cease.

In some places where "rum" was played, patronage of the places has suddenly dropped off to surprisingly small numbers, reports indicate.

The police are keeping a close watch on all places.

Representative Byrns of Tennessee became chairman of the Appropriations Committee, Representative Collier of Mississippi was made chairman of the Ways and Means Committee that initiates all revenue-raising legislation.

The appropriations committee is the largest in the house with 35 members. It was composed of 21 Democrats and 14 Republicans.

Republicans on the Appropriations Committee included Murphy of Ohio.

A wide cut in immigration quotas was proposed today by Representative Jenkins, Republican, Ohio, "to carry out recommendations made in President Hoover's message."

Jenkins introduced legislation identical with that passed by the house last year. It would cut all quotas 90 per cent and put Western Hemisphere countries on quotas based on their 1936 entries reduced by 90 per cent.

ADMINISTRATION NAVAL POLICY IS ATTACKED FROM "WITHIN THE RANKS" BY BIG NAVY GROUP

Hoover Reduction Plan Called Severe Blow to National Defense

Washington, Dec. 9.—(AP)—In the boldest declaration yet issued from an official navy source, Rear Admiral Frank R. Upham today termed the administration policy of reduction a severe blow to the national defense.

Upham as chief of the Bureau of Navigation is one of the highest placed admirals. He chose his annual report to the secretary as a vehicle to air his views, with the attack particularly directed at the current reductions in the number of ships in active commission, and in the number of men allowed on the vessels.

"This reduction in the strength of our enlisted personnel and in the number of ships retained in commission was made after the ratification of the London treaty and with the navy still greatly under the strength permitted us by that treaty, and inferior to ratios prescribed by the Washington and London treaties," said the admiral. "This is a serious impairment of the strength of the navy as an arm of the national defense. The approved naval policy of the United States requires the creation, maintenance and operation of a navy second to none, in conformity with treaty provisions."

Concerned especially at the personnel situation—he was immediate supervision of this angle—Upham warned that the American delegation to the Geneva disarmament conference early next year should be accompanied by naval officers who know the subject. The administration has not looked kindly on the idea of sending admirals to disarmament talks.

He gave also as "the lesson of history" a declaration that decreases in the navy eventually result in expenditures many times greater than the temporary savings. A criticism directed at congress asserted that its action last year in cutting admissions to Annapolis to three for each congressman and senator would result in great annual variations later in the number of new officers ready to join the fleet, seriously affecting efficiency.

When Mrs. Lowther was first summoned into the courtroom, she was smiling and conversed pleasantly with Mrs. Clark Shearer, wife of the Wayne county sheriff. But when the court was called to order, Mrs. Lowther became quiet. Overcome with emotion when the sentence was pronounced, Mrs. Lowther burst into tears.

The courtroom was filled with spectators, and the heat became so great that one man in the crowd fainted.

Judge Starn said he did not know how soon Mrs. Lowther would be taken to the reformatory. He said it would be three or four days before he could get the papers ready for her removal there.

GERMANY FACED BY CIVIL WAR

at Socialists (Hitler) has emphasized the legal methods and aims of his political intentions, yet in stark contrast thereto stand the violent asseverations of leaders who deem themselves no less responsible and who urge senseless civil war and foreign political folly.

"If it is asserted that on seizing power by legal means, one intends to break down the legal barriers then that isn't legality, especially not if, at the same time, within that intimate circle, plans of revenge are formulated and discussed.

"It is against this that I, as a responsible statesman, turn most sharply."

It was a speech that took Germany's breath, but if one may judge from the press comment this morning, the Chancellor appeared to have come off the hero and regained overnight the popularity which had seemed waning during the last few days. His speech, and even the decree, won far more commendation than condemnation.

MAKES CLEANING ON 10 CENT TIES

The story is being told of a smooth salesman who dropped in to this city a few days ago, went to one of the ten cent stores, proceeded to buy a bale of ties at ten cents each, and then sold 58 of them to local residents at 25 cents each, after which he went to some adjoining city to work the same racket.

The ten cent ties, under the magic tongue of the salesman, became sample ties with which the manufacturers were overstocked, and although "usually selling as high as one dollar" must be moved at a sacrifice, and they were moved. Meanwhile, some of the buyers would like to see him once more.

Just ONE Question..

"HOW GOOD ARE THEY?" —THAT'S WHAT SMOKERS WANT TO KNOW ABOUT CIGARETTES

SMOKERS, nowadays, aren't taking things for granted. They're shopping around . . . asking questions.

Old man habit has been discarded . . . forgotten. "How good is it?" . . . that's what they want to know about any cigarette they smoke.

"HOW good is it?" Brother, you put your finger right on it!

You want a cigarette that's milder. You want a cigarette that tastes better. You want a pure cigarette. And above all, you want cigarettes that satisfy.

Now when you say that, you're talking Chesterfield's language—none other!

IT STARTS with fine tobacco. Chesterfield buyers are experts in the art of judging quality leaf. They can spot the finest tobacco in any country . . . and they won't take anything else.

You'll find the same painstaking care . . . the same skillful handling . . . in the curing, the blending, and the cross-blending.

Blended and cross-blended . . . that's Chesterfield! And what a difference it makes in the way it smokes and tastes!

FROM field to package, Chesterfields are protected by the strictest purity standards; the most modern sanitary manufacturing methods.

They're rolled in the finest, whitest paper . . . that burns without taste or odor. Wrapped in a clean, attractive package . . . neat, fresh-looking; moisture-tight . . . but easy to open.

And delivered as fast as they're made . . . from 3 big factories . . . to every cigarette counter in the land.

THAT'S the story of why Chesterfields satisfy. That's the reason they're milder . . . that's why they taste better. Light up . . . and answer your own question!

Christmas Windows

Washington stores, store windows which tell, beautifully, a story of the wonders inside, are a joy and an inspiration to holiday shoppers.

Store window dressing becomes an art and attains its climax in the pre-holiday period. What would the main street of any village or the shopping centers of the great cities be without the decorations and illuminations of the store fronts? The streets without store windows seem dull and dead in contrast. Where the windows are the throngs pass and repass, pausing, attracted by the display, to see the latest novelty, to admire the beauty of the exhibit.

Washington's Store windows are simply expressions of the beautiful in which merchandising is emphasized by the spell of art, and the inspiration thus provided finds reflection in countless homes and in mutual benefit from opportunities afforded.

A Bit of Proof

In our issue of Tuesday, among the News Briefs From Wall Street appeared a short paragraph conveying the information that in two banks alone (The National City and the Chase National) of New York City there was on deposit in money (not a total of assets, but real money) an average of two billion four hundred and fifty-five million, five hundred and six thousand dollars.

Over two and one-half billions of dollars in two banks in New York City and yet there are many of us who are groping about seeking a reason for the depression that has settled on the country and caused values to shrink to a minimum throughout the west.

Neither the cause of our trouble nor the remedy for it seems difficult to find.

There are indications that eastern international financiers have determined to hold the money until the people are ready to consent to a cancellation of war debts.

What's to prevent them?

Nothing, unless the government again sets in motion the federal reserve law—sets it going in the right direction because it has been going in reverse for some time—rediscount assets that have been "frozen" by the concentration of money and issue money until the corner of the international financiers is broken.

An expansion of the currency would result in higher prices, force the hoarded money into circulation. With that done contracting the currency would be a simple process and undisturbing to our economic affairs if done by the government.

Benefits Widespread

Against professional sports and even against amateur sports as exemplified in college games, it is urged sometimes that the benefits are confined to too narrow a class, that the players are the only ones who get the exercise which justifies indulgence in such activities.

This position is hardly tenable. While the players occupy the center of the stage when the games are in progress, in some instances the efforts made by the spectators to be present involve more personal exertion than is expended by those taking part in the sports. The long vigil kept by no small number of persons of both sexes in order to secure tickets for the World's Series is indicative of what a non-player may be called on to endure in baseball.

In the matter of college football certainly there is no want of activity on the part of the student body not members of the squad. With the pep meetings and parades in advance of the games and the jubilation of the victors after a game, it cannot be asserted that whatever benefit exercise affords is withheld from the non-players.

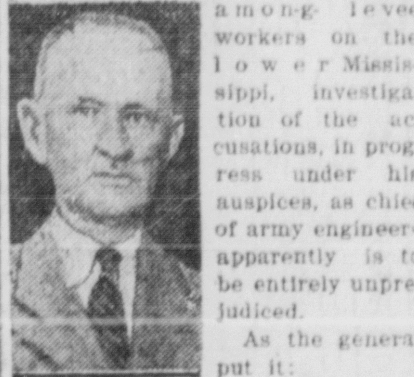

Observations of college sports would seem to bear out the statement that those not on the team get rather more of it than those who play. The latter are rather carefully guarded, while there is not much restraint placed on the former, other than what the human frame can endure.

NO PEONAGE EXIST AMONG
LEVEE WORKERS

That's What Chief of U. S. Engineers Asserts. Labor Federation's Investigators to the Contrary

By CHARLES P. STEWART.

Washington, Dec. 9.—Except that Maj. Gen. Lytle Brown is convinced, in advance, that there is no truth in charges of peonage among levee workers on the lower Mississippi, investigation of the accusations, in progress under his auspices, as chief of army engineers apparently is to be entirely unprejudiced.

Major General Lytle Brown

As the general put it: "From my present knowledge of work on the river I am inclined to believe that labor is not being exploited and that the practice of peonage would be impossible."

So saying, he launched a searching inquiry to determine what justification there may be for complaints by the American Federation of Labor's representatives, Thos. E. Carroll and Holt E. J. Ross of starvation pay, long hours (as many as 12 to 18 daily, for as low as a 75-cent wage) and the frequent brutal beating of negro toilers under some of the contractors on the government's river improvement projects.

Many members of congress, to be sure, are openly skeptical of the dependability of an investigation directed by an official who is so certain, before it has been held, what it will and will not disclose.

The tendency on Capitol Hill, too, is to accept the testimony of the American Federation of Labor's agents at least as readily as that of President Frank Stanford and Secretary R. G. Church of the Mississippi Control Branch of the Associated General Contractors, who describe the A. F. of L.'s charges as incidental to the federation's campaign to unionize the south.

Such conditions as those reported by investigators Carroll and Ross, if proved to exist, will also, it is pointed out by numerous lawmakers, reflect somewhat severely upon General Brown and other army engineers, for disregarding them, or, if unaware of them, for failing to be more observant.

The suggestion is even to be overheard that this consideration may account in part for General Brown's attitude of incredulity.

Whatever the river improvement situation may be, it probably will not, in short, be permitted to drop with merely an army investigation.

The fact is that so much smoke envelopes the federal government's whole program of public buildings and improvements, undertaken mainly with a view to unemployment relief, that a congressional investigation is highly probable to ascertain how much fire there is

COLLEGE HEAD

The Rev. Dr. Ralph C. Hutchinson, above, since 1925 dean of the American College of Tehran, Persia, has been elected president of Washington and Jefferson college, Washington, Pa., the oldest institution of learning in the United States west of the Allegheny mountains. He is 33, the youngest president the college has had and one of the youngest college executives in the country.

underneath the fumes.

Congress was at the utmost pains, during its last session, to guarantee, as far as it was able, that the extensive program for which it was providing should result in a maximum of advantage to actual workers.

From all directions, the stories which are pouring in now indicate that, while contractors and subcontractors have profited by it, labor by no means has done so well; it has had, indeed, offered considerable employment which otherwise might have been lacking, but in great numbers of cases seemingly at decidedly less pay than the legislators intended.

As a safeguard against the cutting of wages, which it was especially desired by such statesmen as Senator Couzens and the progressive group in Washington generally, to prevent during the depression, a law, known as the Bacon-Davis act, was passed, requiring the full local scale to be paid wherever government construction was to be engaged in under the appropriation for such operations as were authorized to meet the hard times emergency.

Just how extensively this law has been violated or evaded is one of the questions which various congressmen think a thorough inquiry is needed to establish.

There has been, indisputably, more or less practically unceasing violation.

It is suspected, however, that it has been much more widely dodged, by the simple expedient on the part of contractors or subcontractors, of paying the prescribed scale to their workers and then exacting a return by the latter of a percentage of the money, or by compelling them to receipt for more than actually was paid to them.

At a juncture, moreover, when a shortening of the working day is being preached on all hands as the most immediately effective method of lightening the burden of unemployment, a resort to lengthened hours, without a corresponding wage increase, is declared to have featured the policy of certain important industries.

For example, attention appears to have been attracted originally to unsatisfactory conditions on the Mississippi levees by the curtailment of forces in the Vicksburg shops, engaged in the production of supplies for river work, and the placing of the men retained upon a 12-hour-a-day schedule.

Semi-mothered mutterings also occasionally have been heard from the direction of the field of activities in the vicinity of Hoover (better known as Boulder) dam.

Violations of the Bacon-Davis law's wage requirements are charged in Washington itself. If they can occur in the very shadow of the Capitol building, is it likely, senators and representatives are urgently asking that they are not still more numerous elsewhere throughout the country?

Poetry For Today

SWORD OF ICE
Let it strike at the bare bough—
If roots be warm and deep.
Let it flash at the earth now—
If seeds be nested in sleep.

Let it clang on the shields of dusk
Or be buried where it fell—
If it bites but the empty husk
And cleaves but the empty shell.

But I have fears this night
For dreams and men and mice.
May I find in the morning light
No breast that is clothed with ice!

In Ohio History
High Spots

BY J. H. CALBRAITH
In the as yet unpublished journal of a famous Ohioan are numerous fragments of early Ohio history. Among them are the tales of the finding of two gigantic skeletons by soldiers who were stationed on Gibraltar and South Bass Islands during the War of 1812 and of the appearance of a white polar bear in the severe winter of 1813.

The Chronicler observes in his journal that he knows the tale to be true, since he received "the account from our esteemed friend Rice Harper of Sandusky whose uncle told the tale to him."

The record follows: "During the War of 1812 this uncle together with some companies of volunteers were stationed on Gibraltar and South Bass Islands to aid Commodore Perry. During idle intervals they would hunt and fish, and roam in the woods, and during one of these excursions on South Bass they discovered the oldest of the caves thereon and after making an entrance and descending with lights they discovered lying on the floor of the cave two skeletons—side by side, evidently male and female, and placed there by way of burial.

"That they belonged to an ancient period is evident from the fact that upon measuring them as they lay there—the male measured eight feet and the female over seven feet in length. What giants these must have been when with flesh, ligaments, etc., they stood up in their full proportions! It is fortunate that the proportions were taken before attempting the removal of the skeletons to the outer world, for upon attempting this they soon crumbled into dust and not one bone was preserved.

"Another interesting fact related by this same uncle: In the winter of 1813, long remembered by the pioneers as the 'cold winter' the ice and snow remained permanently for many weeks longer than usual—and from Sandusky Bay to the North Pole snow and ice communicated uninterruptedly. During the latter part of this severe winter a polar white bear was discovered and killed on the peninsula opposite Sandusky—it having wandered so far south perhaps in search of food!"

A NEW YORKER AT LARGE
By WILLIAM GAINES
NEW YORK—The old song said there was a broken heart for every light on Broadway.

Judging by the tenor of the gossip business, that still may be so. But let it be said that the city has accomplished much toward making sweetness and light prevail over cardiac lacerations and darkness.

If all New York's street lamps were lined along a straight highway, spaced approximately as they are on the city's thoroughfares, the distance between here and San Francisco would be brightly illuminated.

Yet it was only 179 years ago that the common council, looking to the safety of nocturnal ventures, required that a candle lantern be hung from a pole on every seventh house.

If the candle was not burned on the dark of the moon, a nine pence penalty was imposed.

Benjamin Franklin was responsible for the first string of oil lamp posts for New York street illumination.

Broadway's emergence as the White Way was the result of the production of the Weisbach gas burner, a bare 46 years ago.

Late, the street was to see one sign, a block long, with 19,000 electric light bulbs. That sign is not seen any more, but the lights of New York are said to exceed 25,000,000 candlepower.

It takes a lot of woe to cast a shadow across the Rialto these nights.

HAPPY DAYS AGAIN

Times are getting better. Not long ago a contributor sent in a yarn which had a familiar odor. He said: "A store manager was flabbergasted by a headquarters or dep to shave his head—still more."

"After a sleepless night, he decided the ornamental canaries in a front window must worry along with half as much bird seed."

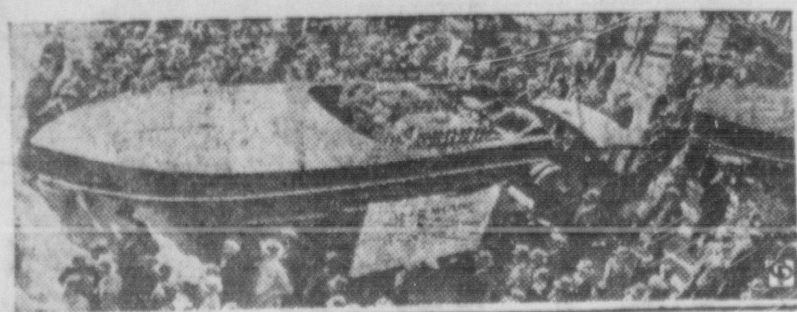

The contributor's latest communication bears this addendum: "P. S.—Those canaries are back on full rations again."

Just the same, a certain rich chain of specialty stores still keeps a lone clerk at some of its metropolitan addresses. When he goes out to supper, you can't even buy a match. He hangs a sign on the door, telling the New York trade what time he'll be back.

Moreover, the overworked fellow has to push the sales of dozens of auxiliary articles.

Green Bay Packers Go and Win Title to Show Appreciation

BUSINESSMEN ON SIDE

Record Over 10 Years One They Are Proud of

Green Bay Wis., (AP)—The Green Bay Packers, winners of a third consecutive National Professional league football championship, are to the city of Green Bay and its 39,000 inhabitants what the Bulldogs are to Yale, the Tigers are to Princeton and the Wildcats are to Northwestern.

The team has been taken to the community bosom. Civic loyalty takes the place of college spirit. And as a result Green Bay ranks as the best professional football city in the nation. The successes of the Packers are regarded as successes of community projects.

Perhaps in other cities where professional teams have franchises it's a matter of citizens going to see a bunch of football players boot and carry the ball around the grid-iron.

Not so in Green Bay. The city is the alma mater of the Packers, and one goes to see his district attorney and next door neighbor hit the line and display smart football to bring home another title and additional honor for the city. The roster of the packers has become a roll of prominent citizens.

For example, there's Verne C. Lewellen, plunging halfback. He's district attorney for Brown county in which Green Bay is situated. La Vern Dilweg, pro end and one of the four horsemen of the Packers, is a Green Bay attorney.

Whitely Woodlin, veteran guard, is employed in a local automobile firm; 'Jug' Sarpe, lineman, sells bonds; Bo Molenda, fullback de luxe, pitches for the Green Bay entrant in the Fox River Valley baseball league, and even Coach E. L. (Curley) Lambeau runs an insurance agency.

And why shouldn't it be so? Because of community support the Packers, originally started as representatives of the Acme packing company, a war-time concern, have survived 10 years after the firm disappeared.

The team is now owned by 400 stockholders and the city—and the state of Wisconsin for that matter—is a packer football mad.

In 1921 with Lambeau, Notre Dame running mate of George Gipp, as captain and coach, the Packers made their debut in the National Professional league with a 7-6 victory over the Minneapolis Marines. From then on they fought hard battles to attain a record unequalled in national football circles.

In 12 years the Bays have won 102 games, lost 31 and tied 16 for an average of .767. They amassed 2,439 points to 660 for their opponents. To this must be added the 1931 sensational record—12 victories and 2 defeats at the time the Packers won the title.

When the Packers are defeated—and they meet defeat sometimes—it's a matter of public mourning here and in the state. Persons go about their duties mumbling disbelief that the Great Bays have been licked.

Then the citizenry appears back on the sidelines at the next game with redoubled cheering to inspire the Packers to another victory.

ARMY-NAVY FOOTBALL CLASH SATURDAY GIVES PROMISE OF REVIVING THE PRE-WAR DAYS

By HERBERT W. BARKER

New York, Dec. 9.—(AP)—This 2nd football clash between Army and Navy, Saturday ought to be a bit more like the 30 they played before the famous "break" of 1927. Their charity engagement here a year ago was fought under some what artificial conditions and at least a part of the glamor that used to surround Army-Navy duels was lacking.

It should be different this time. The two service academies by no means have patched up their differences over eligibility standards and their coming battle was arranged solely in the interests of charity, yet it should be much like the spectacular games of other years.

Last year the game was arranged late in the season as a sort of afterthought, but this time the rival coaches have known since early October that a game would be played. That gave each a chance to "point" for the other and there has been strong evidence that Navy, at least, has been improving steadily and reached top form for the season last week when they toppled Penn, 6-0.

Army, on the other hand, played its best football against Notre Dame, Nov. 28, and there appears to be some doubt whether the cadets again can flash so brilliant a game.

So far 73,000 tickets for the clash have been sold with cash in hand amounting to about $370,000. If the remaining 10,000 tickets, now on public sale, are disposed of the "gate" will pass the $400,000 mark.

Wisconsin Coach To Know Fate Now

Madison, Wis., Dec. 9.—(AP)—Final disposition of the question of retaining Glenn Thistlethwaite, as head football coach at the University of Wisconsin was expected soon.

For the second time within ten days the Athletic council was called to discuss the coaching situation as well as matters pertaining to the financial end of the athletic program at the university.

Agitation for the dismissal of Coach Thistlethwaite started a year ago after a more or less disastrous season for the Badgers and it was renewed at the end of the 1931 season when the team dropped three conference games.

Each team will have two chances against the others before the league season ends next spring.

Tim Noland, Matchmaker in Several Ohio Cities, to Run Program Here

FIRST CARD IS SOON

Emco Club to Be Sponsor of Winter Sport Here

Tim Noland, Columbus matchmaker in both boxing and wrestling circles over the entire state, is to be the matchmaker for the shows to be held at the Armory here this winter.

After conferring with leaders in this field in nearby cities, the Emco Athletic Club agreed with Noland on terms which proved satisfactory to both parties. Noland will arrange for the participants in all of the shows to be held this winter and the local club will be the sponsor.

The new matchmaker set to work immediately, it was learned, and is now assembling his opening bill. Present plans indicate that the first show will take place a week from Wednesday night. Information as to what type of a show this will be is expected shortly as well as the opening lineup.

Noland is well-known to many Washington C. H. fans. Being one of the outstanding matchmakers in the state, he has a long list of favorite boxers and wrestlers who can be called into action at almost any time. Ohioan Captain

State College, Pa., Dec. 9.—(AP)—George B. Collins, Monessen, who played football in Youngstown, Ohio, before coming here, has been elected captain of the 1932 Penn State football team.

Bull Wins!

And death comes to Mexico's famed matador, Carmelo Perez, in the red sand of a Madrid, Spain, bull ring, house of doom for many of El Toro's ancestors. This remarkable Central Press photo shows the maddened bull fatally goring the fallen matador.

His Arrow Fells Deer

Killing a deer with a bow and arrow in these days of advanced civilization is the distinction enjoyed by Howard J. Cooper, above, sportsman and big game hunter of Kalamazoo, Mich. Careful stalking and an unerring aim enabled Cooper to bring down a 165-pound, 10-point buck, near Newberry, Mich., where hunting with firearms is prohibited.

Greenleaf In Tie With Champion Of Pocket Billiards

Philadelphia, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Ralph Greenleaf, of New York, possessing a new tournament record, has returned to tie with Erwin Rudolph, of Cleveland, defending champion, as leader of the world's pocket billiard championship play.

The last shooting New Yorker clicked off a high run of 117 in the fifth inning of a contest against Johnny Layton, of Sedalia, Mo., last night to eclipse his former mark of 85 for the tournament.

Greenleaf's 117 allowed him to defeat Layton, 125 to 17, in six innings. Prior to the contest Spencer Livsey, of Los Angeles, had defeated Marcel Camp, of Detroit, 125 to 105 in 15 innings; George Kelly, of Philadelphia, set down Al Miller of Racine, Wis., 125 to 36 in a like time; and Benny Allen, of Kansas City, won over Robert Lindblom, of Seattle, 125 to 120 in 29 innings.

Lindblom, champion of the west coast, has not won a game in the tournament and has been defeated six times.

TWO BIG SHOTS

LIKELY TO BE TRADED

Grimes Slated to Go to Cubs and Wilson to Cards in Return

MEETING NEARS CLOSE

Bucky Harris Signed Up to Pilot Detroit

By WILLIAM WEEKES

Chicago, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Burling Grimes, pitching hero of the 1931 world series, may be wearing a Chicago uniform next season, and Hack Wilson, dethroned home run king of the major leagues, today appeared certain of becoming a member of the world champion St. Louis Cardinals.

A trade involving the spitball hurler who pitched the Cardinals to two victories in their world series triumph over the Athletics last autumn, and Wilson, was a big possibility today as the National and American leagues went into the second day of their annual meetings.

It was reliably reported last night that the Cubs had just about decided to make a cash deal with Brooklyn, when the Cardinals came up with a three-way proposition, offering either Grimes, Ernie Orsatti or George Watkins, outfielders, for Wilson and cash in varying amounts. Manager Rogers Hornsby and President William L. Veech of the Cubs are said to favor the Grimes deal.

While the Cubs appeared to be unearthing their player deal tangles, the Cleveland Indians want Ralph Kress of the St. Louis Browns and are willing to give Eddie Morgan, a .350 hitter, but rather indifferent fielding first baseman, for him. The Browns, however, do not care so much about Morgan, but would be glad to have Earl Averil, the Indians' star outfielder with whom Cleveland is not willing to part.

The radio broadcasting problem, which had promised to be troublesome, was left as is. The American league adopted a resolution under which no club may sign radio contracts for 1933 until the question is threshed out.

The managerial lineup was completed yesterday when Stanley (Bucky) Harris signed a one-year contract to continue as pilot of the Detroit Tigers.

Vice presidents of both leagues were re-elected, Frank J. Navin, owner of the Detroit club continuing in that position in the American league, and Barney Dreyfuss, president of the Pittsburgh club, remaining as vice president of the National.

The two leagues were to wind up their own business today, and will meet jointly tomorrow.

O. S. U. Beats Ohio

Columbus, O., Dec. 9.—(AP)—Ohio State University opened its basketball season here last night by defeating Ohio University, 25 to 18, before a crowd of more than 3,000. Ohio U. battled stubbornly but the Buckeyes had the advantage and held a lead throughout the game.

Muskingum Wins

Zanesville, O., Dec. 9.—(AP)—In their first basketball game this season, Muskingum College defeated Zanesville Y., 35-34 in a charity game here last night.

SPORT SLANTS

Hunk Anderson of Norte Dame, asked to pick the best linemen his team faced all season, named Quatse of Pittsburgh, Riley of Northwestern and Baker of Southern California.

But Hunk hastened to add that Army's line was the toughest the Ramblers tried to break through all year. Price and Summerfelt were particularly troublesome for Notre Dame.

The Cadet announcer in the press box of the Yankee Stadium pretty well epitomized the situation, in the fourth quarter, when he barked: "Schwartz, tackled by the Army line."

The soldier players showed respect whatever for the famous All-America halfback from Bay St. Louis, down in Mississippi.

DOPE DOES TAILSPIN

Anyway you figure it out, it has been a dizzy gridiron season. Cornell whipped Columbia, but Dartmouth evened it up by a two-touchdown victory over Cornell.

Notre Dame smeared Pittsburgh, which gave the Army a lacing, but the result was that Army climbed all over Notre Dame's running machinery in the Yankee Stadium.

"You will all be gloomy in another five years at that rate," remarked Gil Dobie to a gathering of fellow coaches, after things like this had been under discussion.

LATE BLOOMING ROSES

On the same day that a lot of All-America selections were being hawked around the newspaper premises, a number of young gents in football uniform decided to run wild, including Ray Stecker of the Army, Bob Laasiter of Yale and the Carolina Lassiters, and Ernie Caddell of Stanford.

We searched the All-Americans carefully without finding anything more than an honorable mention for any of these boys.

Perhaps the best solution of this national problem would be to pick an All-America, up to and including a certain date and then select another on the basis of postseason returns, up to and including New Year's Day.

BUCKNELL'S BROADSIDE

Bucknell isn't ready to concede Pittsburgh or any other outfit a major share of the assorted eastern football honors without an argument.

The Bisons, although tied three times, wound up their campaign as the only undefeated outfit in these parts and they are ready to defend the distinction, right down to the last yard.

For example, writes Arthur L. Brandon from Lewisburg, the home of the Bisons: "Bucknell played five major eastern foes, Pittsburgh four. Pitt's eastern opponents were the Army, Carnegie Tech, West Virginia and Penn State. Among them they won but three games against eastern teams and one of these victories was by the weak West Virginia team over a still weaker Penn State eleven."

In a "Mythical League," Pitt's eastern opponents are grouped in the last sixth in the standings. In the same "Mythical League," Bucknell's opponents are grouped as follows: Fordham and Temple in the first two-fifths, Georgetown, Villanova and W. & J. in the next two-fifths, so far as their 1931 ratings are concerned rank higher than the four opponents Pitt found little trouble in beating."

B. A. A. Meeting Is to Be Friday

Columbus, O., Dec. 8.—(AP)—The Buckeye Athletic Association will hold its annual meeting here Friday. The meeting, originally planned for yesterday, is held to prepare athletic schedules and to consider other matters affecting college sports.

Ohio Conference football schedules were drawn up at the semi-annual session yesterday. Games were booked by Bowling Green College, which recently withdrew from the Northwest Ohio Conference and applied for membership in the Ohio Conference. The University of Toledo, also a former Northwest Conference team, which abandoned football last fall because of financial difficulties, scheduled games for next year.

John Carroll University, admitted on probation a year ago, was accepted as a full fledged member by the Ohio Conference.

Auburn has won six of ten annual football games played against the University of Florida.

DEMOCRATS OPEN THE GATE TO FULL DISCUSSION OF PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Independents Upset Plan of G. O. P. Organization in Senate

Washington, Dec. 9.—(P)—The president's declaration for a two-year increase in taxes riveted the attention of congress today upon the budget message with its revelations of pared expenditures and proposed new revenues.

Reading of President Hoover's message transmitting the annual balance sheet of government marked heavily in the red this year, took first place on the programs of both senate and house.

After it both branches allowed themselves a liberal indulgence upon controversial issues and oratory. For the first time in decades the majority party in the house brought in a proposal for full and immediate debate of the president's recommendations for broader credit, revised banking laws and the rest. The senate still had with it the riddle of organization, brought about by the refusal of independents to support George Moses of New Hampshire for president pro tempore.

The amount proposed to be raised by new taxes was the most sought after recommendation of the budget message. Mr. Hoover has set the estimated deficit at the close of this next fiscal year at $4,400,000,000, covering three years of operation with insufficient revenues. Some of the deficit is to be met, in the administration plan, by borrowing, to avoid overtaxing the country.

With virtually no committees constituted and with much reassignment of members to be achieved, the majority party is not ready to recommend legislation, nor is the machinery there to get bills to a vote.

Pre-debate comment on the presidential message was generally critical on the Democratic side, generally friendly on the Republican. None was exactly exuberant, and most members discussed only the angles that most interested them.

The senatorial stalemate which continued into today's session was sprung by the Democratic leader, Robinson of Arkansas.

With a smile he called for election of a president pro tem. Through repeated ballots, the 42 Democratic votes were cast for the party's perennial candidate, Pittman of Nevada. Without talk the "sons of the wild jackass" scattered their votes to various Republicans so as to keep the man who dubbed them that from getting the needed majority. Moses as a result kept the office temporarily as a holdover.

ESCAPED PRISONER HELD AS AUTO THIEF

Danville, Ill., —(P)—Charges of transporting a stolen automobile from Mt. Victory, Ohio, to Tuscola, Ill., were on record here today against Dwight Otis Pugh, alias Ralph Capone, and his wife, Mildred. Pugh admitted he escaped from the Atlanta Federal prison after being sent there from Columbus, Ohio, on a counterfeiting charge. Federal authorities said he probably would be returned to Atlanta.

SPECIAL SESSIONS OF LEGISLATURE URGED

Columbus, O., A special session of the legislature to act on poor relief and methods of increasing tax revenues was asked by Governor White in a memorial adopted by the Columbus city council last night. The memorial was passed unanimously.

TARIFF PERILS FREEDOM PLEAS OF PHILIPPINES

BY A. R. GEORGE

Washington.—(P)—Opponents of Philippine independence are preparing to fight the proposed removal of American guardianship. They intend to do it with the contention that economic disaster to the islands and a substantial loss to United States business interests in the Far East would result.

The granting of immediate freedom slated for consideration by the next congress—would be followed, they argue, by imposition of high tariffs on sugar and other imports from the Philippines.

Those who favor continuance of American rule say free trade with the United States has been the chief cause of increasing prosperity in the islands. They also emphasize the benefit to the Filipinos of American and European capital employed under stable government in developing natural resources.

Trade Increases Nine Fold

The overseas trade of the islands has increased nine-fold in value during the 29 years of American civil administration. The greatest foreign trade record for the Philippines prior to American occupation totals less than $32,000,000 while for the year 1929 it amounted to more than $300,000,000.

During recent years the United States has purchased approximately 70 per cent of the total exports of the Philippines, and has furnished 55 per cent of the merchandise imported. Despite the great increase in Philippine commerce, it is still comparatively undeveloped, government trade experts say.

Distributed among the population of the islands, the per capita imports and exports during 1929 were about $10 and $12.50 respectively. The per capita value of imports and exports of Hawaii during the same year were $258 and $323 respectively.

Exports of Philippine products to the United States last year accounted for 79 per cent of the total export trade, the balance of trade with this country amounting to $27,000,000 in favor of the islands. This amount was over two and a half times the islands' net balance of trade with all other countries.

Commonwealth's attorney Roland D. Cook said that the state expected to ask the death penalty.

TAX INCREASE IS RECOMMENDED BY PRESIDENT HOOVER

has the great advantage that the government is equipped by experience with similar legislation for its systematic and economical collection.

Under the 1924 revenue act, a head of a family had only $2,500 exemption and a single person $1,000, instead of $3,500 and $2,500 as now. There was no 25 per cent credit provision for the tax on earned income.

If the presidential suggestion is adopted, normal income tax rates will be 2 per cent on the first $4,000 of net income, 4 per cent on the next $4,000 and 6 per cent on the amount in excess of $8,000, with surtaxes running from one per cent on net income of from $10,000 to $14,000 to 40 per cent on incomes in excess of $500,000.

The present normal rate of taxation on net income is 1½ per cent on the first $4,000, 3 per cent on the next $4,000 and 5 per cent on all above $8,000 with surtaxes of 29 per cent on all net income of over $100,000.

Corporations would be assessed 12½ per cent on their income instead of 12 per cent and estate taxes will run from one per cent to 40 per cent. Admissions to any public entertainment will be taxed ten cents on a dollar, except where the charge is less than fifty cents.

Estimates for the 1933 fiscal year carry $155,000,000 for construction, of which $120,000,000 is for the public building program being carried out by the treasury but which includes no new projects.

The president called for $644,650,000 for national defense, a decrease of $51,000,000; $60,000,000 for rivers and harbors; $11,369,500 for prohibition enforcement; and $1,072,000,000 for the veterans' administration.

Estimated appropriations for the shipping board showed a decrease of $36,972,000. For the farm board $1,850,000 was asked, a decrease of $99,000,000 as compared with appropriations this year.

The department of justice was allotted $53,900,000, an increase of $2,671,163 over current appropriations. The treasury would get $293,735,857, an increase of $24,000,000. All other departments showed decreases as compared with present year appropriations.

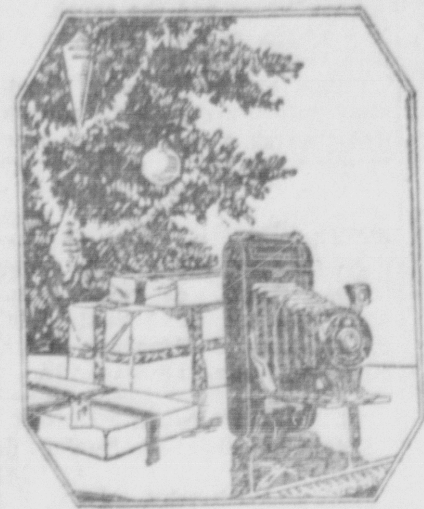

The president disclosed that for the present fiscal year, receipts originally estimated at $3,555,000,000 are expected to drop $1,717,000,000 below that due to decreases of $1,140,000,000 in income tax collections and $202,000,000 in customs receipts, among other factors.

The year's moratorium on inter-governmental debts withholds $247,000,000.

Expenditures for the year are expected to total $437,000,000 more than the original estimates, due in part to added benefits to World War veterans of $155,000,000 and speeding up public works to aid unemployment to the extent of $160,000,000.

In asking for the appropriations for 1933, the president said that every department had trimmed to the minimum.
